

Title I Parental Involvement

IntelliSchool believes that a parent partnership is crucial to students learning. The IntelliSchool principals/Title I Coordinator will abide by the ESSA requirements for LEAs Title I Parental Involvement.

It is the intent of IntelliSchool to increase and improve parent involvement. The school will do this in the following manner:

- Improve School-Parental Communication by engaging parents in two-way dialogue regarding the schools' services, curriculum, student involvement, student attendance and student behaviors. In addition, the school will make every attempt to minimize potential problems cause by language barriers.
- Improve Parenting Skills by educating parents regarding developmental issues, barriers, age-appropriate expectations and how parental support of student's education at home improves student productivity in school.
- Improve Parent Involvement by making parents welcome on the school campus, encouraging parents to volunteer and become involved in school and student activities.
- Improve and Increase Parental and Community Involvement by encouraging involvement in school decision making, school governance, sponsoring activities that create the opportunity to bring school, students, parents, and the community together.
- Improve Shared Responsibility by the school providing as many opportunities for students to learn, parents providing support for the student to success academically and the student to take responsibility for their attendance, behavior and academic productivity.

The school will measure success in these areas by using Parent Surveys and Student Surveys and calculate results in an ongoing goal-oriented process of school improvement.
